

About our Bob

Incredible intellect • Loving heart •
Walking dictionary/encyclopedia/atlas
• Late life mountain climber • Author
• Critic • Food lover and great chef •
Witty • Community leader • Humorous • Devoted father • Loving friend • Radio host • Radio/television/internet movie critic • Lover of traditions • Avid hiker and backpacker • Ranter • World savvy • Fluent French speaker • Sumptuous silver hair • Humongous feet • Relentless curmudgeon, but, in a good way • Could play Exodus on the piano as well as anyone • Shared birthdays with grace and aplomb • Questionable tugboat captain • Connoisseur of single malt scotch • Supporter of the arts • Fervent friend • Soccer aficionado • Loved baseball • Avid reader • Insomniac • Ever a New Yorker • Always looking west • Believed in a bright future • Great and grateful grandfather • Unabashedly honest • Opinionated to the core • Witty, urbane • Brought art film to Spokane • Mellifluous public speaker • Known for exceptional, energetic Sunday night dinner with dear friends • Celebrated seders with gentiles • Told wonderful stories • Exposed children to different cultures • Worked with youth and film • Passionately supported the Roma culture • A Mad Man in the early 60s • Wrote The New Advertising • Wrote Beyond Popeorn • “Was” Movies 101 - radio program and website • Lectured widely on film • Loved Kauai • Loved his family dearly • Had George Segal for a roommate • Celebrated filmmaker • Grew to love the West and Spokane

Descriptions by friend Ed Averett

Robert A Glatzer

May 19, 1932 - October 15, 2010

Bob leading the Film Industry for Peace! Rally, 1970 Duffy Square, NYC

Penning by friend Rich Baldasty

It's so good to think of him in his particularity, his utter distinctiveness of personality, how he never was less than who he was – that there was, for which we thank him, no Bob Lite, no airbrushed version...Bob never was compelled to be without his voice and his intelligence – and by his voice I mean not only the precise way one can hear him thinking through his words but also the full melodiousness of his intonation.

*Bobby in Central Park
circa 1938*

From Bob & Mary Ann's wedding ceremony, December 31, 1977, which they composed and read to their children on every anniversary

Hopes for the Children

We hope that your home stands as a symbol of persons living together in love and peace, seeking truth and social justice. We hope that you will never abandon the fight. We wish that at the end of your lives you will be able to say these things to each other: Because you have loved me, you have given me faith in myself; and because I have loved you, you have blossomed far beyond your most daring dreams. And because we have loved each other, we have given our children the very best that is in us: strength, inner security, courage, and the ability to love well.

